WHAT'S ON THE MENU?

Beginner's Guide to Archives or Fantastic Items and Where to Find Them

"I"rne waits for no one. So if there's stuff you want to know, find out.

- Stevie Nicks

Time waits for no one. So if there's stuff you want to know, find out.

— Stevie Nicks
Table of Contents

3......What is an archives?
4......Archives are for everyone!
6.......Archives can be scary.
8.......First time?
10......The archivist is here to help you.
12......Archives etiquette 101
14......How to request materials
16......Archives @ Swat
18......Other local archives
20......Key terms
What is an archives?

Archives are information centers where records about the past - including diaries, financial records, photographs, and emails - are made available to researchers.

Researchers use primary sources because they provide a firsthand account of events or conditions during a particular period in time.

Many documents used as primary sources were recorded contemporaneously by participants or observers.

Primary Sources & Archives
Reflect thinking and understanding at a moment in time

Consider also sources from organizations (e.g. colleges, activist groups)
Archives are for everyone.

Both the Friends Historical Library and the Swarthmore College Peace Collection are open to everyone, including the general public. Swarthmore students are especially welcome.

Archives are not just for academic history research. Disciplines as varied as English Literature, Linguistics, Peace & Conflict Studies, and even Astronomy, have used our collections in recent years.

Every archives hold a wealth of information that is unavailable elsewhere, and it is up to the researcher to decide how best to contribute to our collective memory.
Journalists use archives to establish context for contemporary events and to hold people and groups accountable for their actions.

Artists and fiction authors find historical details in archives to add texture to their works of art.

From the History Channel to the Halls of Justice, the information archives hold shapes the world in which we all live.

Genealogists find traces of their ancestors in archival records.
Archives can be scary.

Limited hours
Little online presence
Confusing jargon
Vague inventories
Cursed/haunted materials

The ultimate guide to a

Less-Stressed Life
Get a deal.

Without the ordeal.
First time?

No, I've been nervous lots of times.

It's ok to ask questions. In fact, we love it!
(No, seriously, ask us stuff!)

You may be asked to register as a first-time visitor. If so, make sure you bring a photo ID.

After your first visit, usually, you will just be asked to sign in.

Table service: You'll ask the archivist or other staff for documents, rather than getting them yourself. This is called paging.
Typically, it's OK to use:

- Pencil and notebook
- Phone (for photos)
- Laptop

But while using rare materials, no:

- Food or drinks (including water bottles)
- Backpacks (can usually store)
- Pens or highlighters

Plan for times to eat, drink, and caffeinate yourself ahead of time if possible. Food is not allowed in most reading rooms!

When citing your sources, you'll need to know where you found them:

Example citation:
Booth Tarkington to George Ade, 8 May 1924, Box 10, Folder 5, George Ade Papers 1878-2007, Purdue University Archives and Special Collections, Purdue University Libraries.
The archivist is

Compared with main libraries, archives hours are more limited, and far less material is available online. The way their collections are arranged and described can be confusing. The catalog may contain unfamiliar jargon and inventories may be vague.

We have good reasons for all of this, but we know there is a downside: it makes it harder to come into the archives. That is why we have archivists to help you! Please never hesitate to ask lots of questions. We’re here to make your life easier!

We Want to Know

What’s on Your Mind

COOLEST PEOPLE IN THE ROOM
here to help you.

The archivist is here to help you.

Talk to your archivist. Archives staff know their collections well. They're an invaluable resource for any researcher. Let them know what you're interested in - you may get suggestions you'd never have found otherwise.
Archives etiquette 101

Use pencils. Pens are the bane of the archives world!
Notebooks and laptops are perfectly fine to have with you.
Use caution when handling fragile materials.
Try to use only one folder at a time so materials don’t get mixed up.
Keep items in the order you found them in.
Let archives staff know that you’re planning to visit.
(Some documents may be kept off-site and take a few days to request.)
Reading Room
How to request materials

It helps to know what collections you want to look at beforehand, but is not necessary.

The archivist will help you find what you are interested in!

Fill out a call slip. Each collection has a unique identifier that will help the archivist locate the specific box you want.
CALL # RG6-P007

COLLECTION Sigma Xi

ITEM/BOX # 1 + 3

REQUESTED BY Alison S.

SIGNED

DATE 1/9/2019

NOTES

PLEASE KEEP THIS SLIP WITH THE ITEM UNTIL RESHELVED!

PULLED BY JD DATE 1/9/2019

RTND BY DATE

PLEASE PRINT LEGIBLY
If only more resolutions were this easy to start.

Archives @ Swat

Swarthmore has two archives: the Friends Historical Library and the Swarthmore College Peace Collection.

Friends Historical Library (FHL)
Website: http://swarthmore.edu/friends
Email: friends@swarthmore.edu
Location: McCabe, first floor (first door on your left inside)
Hours: 8:30-4:30 Monday-Friday, (check our website) 10a-1p
and select select Saturdays

Swarthmore College Archives (part of FHL)
Website: http://swarthmore.edu/archives
Email: archives@swarthmore.edu
Location: Friends Historical Library, in McCabe
Hours: same as Friends Historical Library
Swarthmore College Peace Collection (SCPC)

Website: http://www.swarthmore.edu/library/peace/
Email: peacecollection@swarthmore.edu
Location: McCabe, lower level
Hours: 8:30-4:30 Monday-Friday
Other Local Archives

In the Philadelphia area

There are dozens of other archives in the Philadelphia area, many associated with historical societies, universities, museums, churches, municipal governments, or businesses.

Across the U.S.
Visit ArchiveGrid,

https://beta.worldcat.org/archivegrid/
KeY terms

Archives & Manuscripts (http://archives.tricolib.brynmawr.edu/): Swarthmore, Haverford, and Bryn Mawr’s shared online catalog with finding aids to our archival materials.

Archivist: Here to help YOU! A professional responsible for preserving materials of historical value and providing access to them for research.

Call number / identifier: A combination of letters and numbers used to uniquely identify an archival collection or item. Examples: SFHL-RG5-050 or SCPC-DG-074.

Call slip: Fill out this piece of paper with the information the archivist will need to retrieve an item for you. Typically asks for the call number, collection name, and box number.

Catalog: A systematically arranged list of items held by the repository.

Collection: A group of similar materials, usually all created by the same person, family, business, or organization.

Live Your Best Life
Digitization: The process of scanning physical materials (paper), and usually putting the scans online. This labor intensive process requires careful handling of often fragile materials, and detailed cataloging work, as well as an ongoing commitment to maintenance, upgrading online interfaces, and digital preservation. Contrary to popular belief, only a very tiny percentage of our collections have been digitized, and it is unlikely that we'll ever manage to digitize everything.

Extent / Linear feet: How "large" a collection is, typically measured in linear feet, as in amount of space the collection occupies on a shelf. A typical estimate is 1,500 pages may comprise a linear foot. The number of boxes or number of pages is often also given.

Finding aid: A description to help you find an archival collection or locate items within it. Typically contains both an overview of the collection (who created it, what topics it covers, etc.) as well as an inventory of its contents.

Manuscripts: A handwritten or unpublished document. Often abbreviated as MSS.

Series: A group of similar materials within a collection.
About Us

WHO are we and WHY did we make this zine?

Alison Sielaff is an archivist at the Friends Historical Library.

Lorin Jackson is a Research and Instruction Resident Librarian at Swarthmore College.

Both Alison and Lorin wanted to create an accessible, fun way for undergrads (but, really anyone!) to become better acquainted with archives. We want you to know that archives for everyone. Including you.
Acknowledgements

A lot of concepts, ideas, and language included in this zine are because of these folks! Thank you!

Celia Caust-Ellenbogen
Archivist @ Friends Historical Library

Sarah Elichko
Social Sciences and Data Librarian
@ Swarthmore College

Pam Harris
Associate College Librarian
of Research and Instruction
@ Swarthmore College
OH, WHAT A NIGHT

YOU'RE GOLDEN

EXPLORE A NEW WORLD EVERY DAY.

Created by Lorin Jackson & Alison Sielaff